

ARE YOU READY TO BE TRANSFORMED?

What does it take for a leader to be prepared for the surprises of the future...?

Mindful Leadership in the 21st century A Leadership Skills Development programme for Senior Executives

A 3-day residential workshop— Abuja, 23-25 October, 2008

The speed and intensity of change in today's global business environment has made the ability to anticipate and adapt to new challenges crucial for anyone in a leadership role. How can you continue to learn and develop? Which new levels of leadership and achievement must you now aim for and how will you maintain this pace of continual self-reinvention?

The Mindful Leadership programme is a new development programme from ODERA Management Development, specifically designed for senior managers and executives. Its aims include helping them assume leadership roles within the enterprise or transition to broader roles within the organization. Content is based on the latest global research and practice. The workshop will explore divergent viewpoints, provide a forum for complex issues such as global strategy, emerging markets and management of complex organizational systems, outline the key processes involved in change and present strategies for developing the thinking skills needed to adapt to that change. Our unique teaching method promotes mutual learning and enhances participant's ability to reflect in depth on the knowledge, skills and requirements of a skilled business leader.
